NEW YORK CITY.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, March 23, 1869.

At a meeting of the members of the Produce Exchange, resolutions presented by Robert Getty, Jesse Hoyt, Carlos Cobb, David Dawes, and others, were unanimously adopted, recommending the Legislature to reform the management of canals, and proposing an amendment to the Constitution giving power to the Legislature to borrow, on pledge of canal revenues, such sums as are necessary to improve the canals to the maximum capacity of transportation, in order to reduce the cost of transportation and prevent the diversion of their trade; and also that the Legislature authorize the appointment of a board of five engineers to examine the condition of the canals for transportation, and report to the next Legislature the most feasible plan for their improvement; and inviting all Boards of Trade in the State to cooperate in the general movement to accomplish these objects.

In the case of Fisk vs. the Union Pacific Railroad, a motion was made by the defense for the dismissal of the cause. Judge Barnard refused to entertain the motion and after some sparring the hearing was adjourned to Saturday.

The Supreme Court rendered a decision in favor of the defendants in the case of Vanburen and others, who sued the Manufacturers' National Bank to recover the value of the stolen $50,000 gold certificates, the property of plaintiffs, which had been received and cashed by the bank.

Charles Best, postoffice clerk at Hudson, was committed for trial on a charge of embezzling letters.

Intelligence has been received from Europe of the death of the eminent French composer, Hector Berloise, in his sixty-sixth year.

The trial of Morton and Thompson, the supposed robbers of the Merchants Union Express Company, has been postponed till May, by the West Chester Court of Quarter Sessions. Rumor says the Company have recovered the stolen $3,300, except what was paid to the detectives.

The report that Wm. M. Tweed, Jr., had been appointed Receiver of the Union Pacific Railroad Company is erroneous, and probably sprung from his temporary appointment as Receiver of the Credit Mobilier.

The workingwomen of this city in favor of the eight hour law held a mass meeting this evening in and around the Cooper Institute. There was an immense attendance. Resolutions pledging support to printers on a strike and asserting the rights of workmen were adopted. The speaking was exclusively confined to workingmen. Much enthusiasm prevailed.

The report started by an evening paper that the World newspaper has been sold to Seymour, Church and Cassidy is understood to be without foundation in fact.

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

[FIRST SESSION.]

SENATE: Tenure-of-Office Repealing Bill Recommitted—Bill to Re-organize Judiciary Passed—Also the Bill Authorizing the Pre-payment of Interest on the Public Debt. HOUSE: Revision and Consolidation of Statutes—Burlington and Missouri River Branch of the Pacific Railroad—Political Disabilities.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, March 23, 1869.

SENATE.

Mr. ANTHONY was chosen President pro tem, in the absence of Mr. Colfax.

Mr. MORRILL, from the Finance Committee, reported the bill passed at the last session amending the national currency act; also, an act extending penalties punishing accessories.

A bill authorizing the pre-payment of interest on the public debt was passed.

The Tenure-of-Office repealing act was recommitted to the Judiciary Committee.

The joint resolution to continue the pay of enlisted soldiers at sixteen dollars per month, till the first of July, 1871, was referred to the Military Committee.

The bill reorganizing the Judiciary system was taken up.

Mr. DRAKE resumed his argument in favor of his amendment, offered yesterday.

Mr. TRUMBULL defended the bill, which had already passed both Houses, and failed to become a law because not signed by the President.

Mr. WILLIAMS favored postponement till next session, and made that motion.

Mr. SAWYER opposed postponement, urging that in his section immediate relief was necessary, as the Courts were completely overburdened.

Mr. STEWART supported the bill.

Mr. THURMAN thought Mr. Drake's amendment would, if adopted, produce an insurrection of the bar.

Mr. Williams' motion was rejected—11 against 44.

Mr. Drake's amendment was also rejected, as was another, he subsequently offered, providing that no judgment of affirmance shall be made in any case in the U. S. Supreme Court when the Judges are equally divided—the latter by a vote of 15 to 29.

Mr. SUMNER offered a new section, providing for the retention of Judges over seventy years of age, with continuance of salary.

Mr. TRUMBULL, while he had no objection to the provision, opposed it on the ground that it would defeat the bill in the House.

The amendment was rejected, and the bill then passed.

Mr. SPRAGUE introduced a bill to provide for the loaning of the public money and for other purposes. Referred to Committee on Finance.

Mr. WILSON, from the Military Committee, reported a bill to abolish the office of Chief-of-Staff to the General of the Army, and a bill in relation to retired officers, with amendment.

Mr. SHERMAN, from the Committee on Finance, reported adversely the bill to allow Deputy Collectors and Assessors of Internal Revenue, acting as Collectors and Assessors, the pay of Collectors and Assessors.

Mr. POMEROY, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported, with amendment, a joint resolution giving construction to the acts of Congress granting lands to the State of Wisconsin to aid in building railroads.

Adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. POLAND introduced a bill providing that the Judges of the Supreme Court shall not sit in the hearing of appeals and writs of error from their decisions as Circuit Judges. Referred to Committee on Revision of Laws.

Mr. JULIAN asked leave to offer a resolution instructing the Committee on Reconstruction to inquire into the expediency of reviving and enforcing the collection of direct tax in the States lately in rebellion.

Mr. BROOKS objected, unless the resolution was referred to the Judiciary Committee or the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. JULIAN declined to have it so referred and withdrew the resolution.

Mr. BINGHAM reported a bill providing for the publication of opinions of the Attorney General. Referred to Judiciary Committee.

Mr. POLAND reported a bill extending the time for revising and consolidating the statutes for three years.

Mr. BUTLER criticised unfavorably the manner in which the work was done, saying each Commissioner was paid $5,000 per annum.

Mr. POLAND said Caleb Cushing, three years ago, promised, if he was appointed, he would make it his business, and yet he understood that gentleman had not put pen to paper on the revisions.

Mr. BUTLER said Mr. Cushing early saw it was a futile attempt, and had ceased work and ceased taking pay.

Mr. BENJAMIN moved an amendment, that the Commissioners should give their whole time to the work, which was agreed to, and the bill passed.

A letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, suggesting that he be authorized to anticipate the payment of interest on the public debt for a period not exceeding six months, on a rebate of interest at six per cent., was referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

The Senate amendments to joint resolution supplying omissions in enrollment of certain bills were concurred in.

Several Senate resolutions were appropriately referred. That relative to Consular fees was passed, as was also the one relative to light houses on the coast of Oregon.

The Senate joint resolution in relation to the Burlington and Missouri River Railroad branch of the Union Pacific Railroad was the next business in order.

Mr. ALLISON moved to have the bill put on its passage. He explained it briefly, and stated that the subject had been considered by the Committee on Public Lands, and he understood the Committee was unanimous in favor of it.

Mr. JULIAN corroborated that statement.

Mr. LOGAN protested against one Committee considering the business that properly belonged to another Committee. There were two Committees, each of which had more jurisdiction than the Committee on Public Lands had. Those were the Committee on Pacific Railroad and on Railroads and Canals. If the Chairman of Pacific Railroad Committee were to allow such business to be taken jurisdiction of by other Committees, he (Mr. Logan) wanted to know it, for he would decline serving on such Committee any further.

Mr. WHEELER, Chairman of the Pacific Railroad Committee, said he had been absent on account of illness, and did not know anything of the subject before the House. The gentleman from Illinois would find him as zealous for the rights of the Pacific Railroad Committee as he was himself.

Mr. LOGAN said he made no imputation on the gentleman.

Mr. ALLISON said this class of bills had usually been referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

Mr. JULIAN said the Committee had not assumed any jurisdiction. It had merely considered the bill informally to accommodate the gentleman from Iowa.

Mr. WINANS, another member of the Committee on Public Lands, said the bill had been informally considered and opposed by the members of that Committee.

Mr. LOGAN inquired by what right that Committee had considered a subject not referred to it?

Mr. WINANS replied the members of the Committee had considered it by virtue of the right which God and their constituents had given them.

Mr. LOGAN—A God given right: that is a new feature in legislation. (Laughter)

Mr. WINANS moved an amendment, providing that the company shall have no more or greater proportion of land or other aid than it would have been entitled to if the act had not been passed.

The question was further discussed by Messrs Ward, Clarke, Paine and Taffe, when

Mr. ALLISON moved the previous question on the passage of the bill.

The previous question was not seconded and then, on motion of Mr. WARD, the bill was referred to the Committee on Pacific Railroad.

The Senate resolution rescinding the concurrent resolution of last session for the creation of a Committee on the Reorganization of the Civil Service was non-concurred in and a Committee of Conference asked.

The Senate bill to remove the charge of desertion from certain soldiers of the Second North Carolina Mounted Infantry was passed.

Mr. HILL introduced a joint resolution extending the provisions of the act establishing a line of American steamships between New York and Europe. Referred to Postoffice Committee.

Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, from the Committee on Reconstruction, reported back the Senate concurrent resolution for a joint Special Committe on the removals of disabilities, and moved nonconcurrence, on the ground that the Senate had since then appointed a Special Committee of its own.

Mr. BROOKS said he trusted the rumor that the Reconstruction Committee would soon report a general bill for amnesty would prove true—amnesty not for one party alone, but for men of both parties, without preference or distinction.

Mr. BUTLER said he thought and hoped the Reconstruction Committee would come to the same conclusion—that there should be some means by which men could have their political disabilities removed without having to come to Congress, and getting it through omnibus bills. He hoped within a day or two to present to the House for reference to that Committee some such proposition.

The resolution was non-concurred in.

Various other bills on the Speaker's table were referred and the House adjourned.

The Park Question in Chicago.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, March 23.—The South and West divisions of the city, with the adjoining towns of Hyde Park, Lake Cicero and Jefferson, voted to-day on the Park question, and all of them, five in number, with connecting boulevards, have been carried, two in the South division by two thousand majority, and three in the West division by five hundred majority. This result adds about two thousand acres to the Park grounds of the city. Although much interest has been manifested in the question for over two weeks, yet the vote is quite light.

Erie Railroad Affairs.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ALBANY, March 23.—In the Assembly to-day the report of Jay Gould, President of the Erie Railroad, as to the capital stock of the road on the 19th of March, was presented. The common stock was $7,000,000; preferred, $8,000,000: funded debt, $23,000,000. The report says the floating debt is too fluctuating to be stated accurately.

Rodger, son of Commodore Rodger; Augustus L. Case, Jr., son of Commodore A. L. Case.

THE CHEROKEES.

Lewis Dowing, principal chief of the Cherokee nation, in a memorial to Congress, calls attention to the fact that since 1866 treaties have been made with various tribes of Indians, with a view of settling them on the Cherokee domain. They were made in plain violation of the Cherokee treaty of 1866, in this: The Cherokees, so far from having contracted with the said Indian tribes in the sale of these lands, were not even consulted as to the price at which the United States has undertaken to dispose of them. He begs leave to express the earnest desire of the Cherokees to carry out the provisions of the treaties with the utmost good faith, and that he, as their chief, will spare no pains and loose no occasion to preserve and strengthon the happy relations now existing between the Cherokees and the United States Government. But he deems it his duty to state, most respectfully, that he fears it will be beyond his power to restrain the Cherokees from resisting all encroachments from other Indians.

OFFICIAL VISIT.

The Committee on Banking and Currency, with Mr. Garfield, Chairman, at their head, paid an official visit this morning to the Secretary of the Treasury. The currency was the topic of conversation. The Committee informed the Secretary an effort would be made to pass the bill for a redistribution of the national banking currency before the close of the session. Mr. Boutwell said if that was done, he did not know of any further legislation necessary at this time under that head.

PREPAYMENT OF INTEREST.

The following is the bill introduced in the Senate to authorize the prepayment of interest on the public debt:

Be it enacted, &c., That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized, whenever he deems it for the public interest, to prepay the interest of the public debt for a period not exceeding one year, upon a rebate of interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum.

PRESSURE SUBSIDING.

There was an evident diminution of the throngs of office seekers, both at the departments and the capitol to-day. Secretary Boutwell has appointed William B. F. Prescott, of Concord, N. H., special agent of the Treasury Department, in place of Harvy Bingham. Mr. Prescott will be assigned to duty in New England.

GONE TO OHIO.

Vice President Colfax, with wife and sister, left this morning for Andover, Ohio, his wife's former home. He will return to this city in a few days to preside in the Senate till the end of the session. He is not going to New Orleans, as incorrectly reported.

The Havana journals are all silent in regard to the movements of government troops and insurgent forces. Nothing has been made known for some days of the operations of Count Valmaseda and Colonel Leno, or of the rebel Generals Queseda and Marmal. The Diario, in a leading article, praises the Jesuits, and deeply regrets the society was not established in the Island twenty years ago. All the journals, except the Voz, are reticent, as usual, concerning the late exciting occurrences.

FOUR SONNETS.

BY JEAN INGELOW.

A Snow Mountain.

Can I make white enough my thought for thee,
Or wash my words in light? Thou hast no mate
To sit aloft in the silence silently
And twin thos matchless heights undesecrate.
Reverend as Lear, when, lorn of shelter, he Stood with his old white head, surprised at fate;
Alone as Galilee, when, set free,
Before the stars he mused disconsolate.
Ay, and remote, as the dead lords of song
Great masters who have made us what we are,
For thou and they have taught us how to long
And feel a sacred want of the fair and far:
Reign, and keep life in this our deep desire,—
Our only greatness is that we aspire.

Sleep.

(A WOMAN SPEAKS.)

O sleep, we are beholden to thee, sleep,
Thou bearest angels to us in the night,
Saints out of heaven with palms. Seen by thy light,
Sorrow is some old tale that goeth not deep;
Love is a pouting child. Once I did sweep
Through space with thee, and lo, a dazzling sight—
Stars! They came on, I felt their drawing and might;
And some had dark companions. Once (I weep
When I remember that) we sailed the tide,
And found fair isles, where no isles used to bide,
And met there my lost love, who said to me,
That it was a long mistake; he had not died.
Sleep, in the world to come, how strange 'twill be
Never to want, never to wish for thee!

Promising.

(A MAN SPEAKS.)

Once, a new world, the sunswart mariner
Columbus promised, and was sore withstood,
Ungraced, unhelped, unheard for many a year;
But let at last to make his promise good.
Promised and promising, I go, most dear,
To better my dull heart with love's sweet feud,
My life with its most reverent hope and fear,
And my religion, with fair gratitude.
O we must part: the stars for me contend,
And all the winds that blow on all the seas.
Through wonderful waste places I must wend,
And with a promise my sad soul appease.
Promise then, promise much of far-off bliss;
But—ah, for present joy, give me one kiss.

Who weileth love should first have vanquished fate.
She folded up the dream in her deep heart.
Her fair full lips were silent on that smart,
Thick fringed eyes did on the grasses wait
What good? one eloquent blush, but one, and straight
The meaning of life was known; for art
Is often foiled in playing nature's part,
And time holds nothing long inviolate.
Earth's buried seed springs up—slowly, or fast:
The ring came home, that one in ages past
Flung to the keeping of unfathomed seas;
And golden apples on the mystic trees
Were sought and found, and borne away at last,
Though watched of the divine Hesperides.

Both backwards and forwards is always the same.

A Modern Romance.

One of those events which occasionally transpire to assert, in the most emphatic manner, the leveling spirit of the age, occurred on Saturday in this city. This was no less than the marriage of a Prince of the ancient and conservative House of Bourbon to the daughter of a Cuban merchant. The story—a most romantic one—is as follows: Some three or four years ago Mrs. Hamil, the wife of a well known merchant in Havana, left that city to place her daughter in a school in Paris. The daughter possessed of more than ordinary accomplishments and personal charms, attracted much attention among the best society of the gay French capital. She was received in the most exclusive circles, and it is said was a frequent guest at the Imperial Court. Among the many distinguished gentlemen who paid her their court was Prince Louis de Bourbon, son of Louis, Count d'Aquilla, one of the chief members of the Bourbon family. The Prince proposed to her and was accepted, under the mother's sanction, but when Count d'Aquilla learned the intention of his son, his pride revolted at what he and others of royal blood considered a misalliance, and he not only forbade the match, but used his influence with the Emperor to induce the latter to discountenance it should the Prince seek his support. The lovers, in company with the lady's mother, then determined to go to England, and there fulfil the marriage, but the father interferred, and succeeded in preventing them from carrying it out. After more than one disappointment from the refusal of the Catholic clergy to perform the ceremony, the persecuted ones determined to proceed to the United States, where they hoped to find no difficulty in fulfilling their contract, but even in this free country the influence of conservatism prevailed so far that the Catholic clergy still declined to have anything to do in the matter. However, a marriage according to the civil rights of the country was consumated on Saturday evening last, and thus all oposition and persecution was overcome. This marriage, although, perhaps, it would not be acknowledged among the crowned heads of Europe, is perfectly legal in the United States and all Protestant countries, and as such it will never be disputed. The Prince, it is understood, should his family still prove obdurate, is prepared to renounce his rights as one of the royal house of Bourbon, and will content himself with the possession of his beautiful wife.—New York Tribune.

Fallston, Beaver County, Pa.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW BRIGHTON, March 22, 1869.

The old village of Fallston is situated on the west bank of the Big Beaver river, opposite New Brighton, and has a population of about one thousand inhabitants. The principal business is manufacturing and coal mining. The hills, which are quite high and abrupt, are full of coal of good quality.

One half of the water power controlled by the lower of the three dams, of which I spoke in my article on the water power of New Brighton, is taken to the Fallston side of the river.

The following are the principal manufactories in Fallston, all of them supplied with an abundance of water power:

Wire and Rivet Factory—W. P. Townsend & Co., manufacturers of Wire, Black and Trimmed Rivets; turn out about four hundred tons annually; employ about thirty hands, have good, substantial stone and brick building.

Foundry and Machine Shop—Jno. Thornily, manufactures stoves of various styles and for various uses—for dwellings, offices, schools and churches, etc.

Their favorite cooking stove is the Great Republic, with patent portable extension top. This extends from the stove into the chimney, and thus affords place for the fifth pot or kettle, and has no need for the sheet iron elbow. It gives good satisfaction. Mr. Thornily is the patentee.

He also builds steam engines and various machinery. This is the oldest foundry in this region.

Machine Shop.—M. Darragh & Co. Do all kinds of machine work. Their principal business is engine building. Have two iron planers, six lathes and one screw cutter; capacity for twenty-five hands. Foundry connected with this shop, in which they employ from ten to fifteen hands. Do all their own casting, from smallest pieces to ten thousand pounds weight.

White Lead Keg Factory.—M. P. & S. Kennedy. Turn out about seven hundred per day. They take their wood from the large log and work it up by machinery, and make their own barrels.

Bucket, Tub and Washboard Factory.—(Idle just now.) Capacity to turn out fifty dozen buckets, ten dozen tubs, and twenty dozen washboards daily.

Saw and Planing Mill—Miner & Co., manufacturers of flooring, siding, lath and shingles, and dealers in pine, oak and hemlock lumber. Capacity to saw one million feet of lumber annually.

Woolen Mill—Cass & Lobley, manufacture blankets, flannels, and do a general custom business, such as carding, spinning, ect. Just new.

There is also a flouring mill of considerable capacity.

The cost of water power compared with steam is very light, especially where it is easily controlled, as here.

Though Fallston is separated from New Brighton by the river, yet commercially it is a part of it. There is a good covered bridge over the river, over which any one, priest or layman, gentleman or lady, may pass, on foot, for the sum of two cents. Only one or two cents more than is charged at the bridges between Pittsburgh and Allegheny. C.

Advices from the West Indies.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HAVANA, March 22.—Advices from St. Thomas to the 16th state the Danish authorities, at the request of the Captain General of Porto Rico, banished De Betances, of Mayognez, suspected of organizing an expedition against the Spanish colonies. He refused to leave, saying the action of the authorities was illegal, and he was a United States citizen. In this he was supported by the American Consul.

Port-au-Prince news to the 11th inst., states that Salnave's forces were besieging Jacmel, and the insurgents had commenced the siege of Gonaves. Salnave arrested two hundred merchants in Port-au-Prince and sent them to reinforce the garrison at Gonaves. A convention has been concluded with France, by which the latter is to receive twelve per cent of the revenues towards the payment of her claims.

The Haytian revolutionary steamer, Mount Vernon, was at Jamaica, on the 12th inst., to obtain an armament.

The yellow fever prevailed in Caraccas on the 12th of March.

The man arrested on the wharf, in Havana, on Saturday, on a charge of theft, proved to be a Cuban rebel. He was tried and sentenced to death by a court martial and shot at six o'clock tha same evening.

Captain General Dulce, yesterday, issued a proclamation, addressed to the citizens of Havana, in which he refers to the events of the day before. He says his promises of maintaiuing order and justice have been observed. The man who had just been executed was probably instigated by others to create a disturbance, and it was necessary to act in his case with exemplary severity. At this very moment the government was leniently sending out of the country more astute but equally culpable men. The proclamation concludes with a flattering address to the volunteers.

NEW YORK CITY.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, March 22, 1869.

In the case of Fiske against the Union Pacific Railroad to-day, Durant, Vice-President, was directed by the Court to produce the books of the Company. Durant made an affidavit that the books were not accessible to-day, and was ordered to bring them in to-morrow.

The steam elevator Liverpool, in the Atlantic basin, Brooklyn, was destroyed by fire to-day. Loss, $30,000; insured for $28,000.

A rifled mail bag, containing several thousand letters, was found in the water at Gowanus to-day. All the valuable letters had been opened and their contents extracted.

Captain John S. Young, Chief of the Detective Force, refused to appear for trial before the Police Commissioners to-day, and was discharged from the service.

A LATE London letter says: "An entertainment of a somewhat novel kind was given last night at the residence of Lady E. Howard, No. 19 Rutland Gate. It consisted of a series of Tableaux Vivants, arranged by ladies and gentlemen, and it passed off with remarkable success. Some of the most beautiful women in London assisted to make up the figures or sets. Lady Diana Beauclerk represented the "Spirit of the Waters," and a group after "Watteau" was personated by Lady Sebright, Lady Alexina Duff, Mrs. Gurney, Miss Sothern, and a gentleman whose name was not announced. Passages in the story of "Guinevere" were presented by Viscountess Pollingten, Miss Harvey and Captain Stewart. "The Sleeping Beauty" was a picturesque scene, with the Marchioness Townshend and Count Maffei as the principal characters. A number of other groups were formed, and in all probability the entertainment will be much imitated during the present season. It was for the benefit of the distressed Irish in London."

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, March 23, 1869.

We have still to report a very fidgety market—one part of the day there are plenty of buyers and no sellers, while the other part, the tables are completely turned. This morning the market opened very strong, and up until noon there was considerable excitement, and sellers were almost afraid to name a price or give a refusal; while in the afternoon, under the influence of advices from the East, there was quite a reaction, and, all at once, nearly all become sellers and there were no buyers. Compared with yesterday, however, prices are still better, notwitstanding there was a decline of half a cent during the afternoon, and the market upon the whole, is much stronger than it was at the close of last week. It is said that the majority of the shorts are covered for March, and that they will not, for the time being, at least, bring the same influence to bear that they did last week to break the market.

CRUDE—The market, as already intimated, was considerably stronger during the forenoon and a still further advance was established, but in the afternoyn, under the influence of a strong pressure to sell, the advance gained in the morning was partially lost. We can report 1,000 bbls (40 to 45) till April 20th, seller, at 15¾; 2,000 seller, 30 days at 15¾; 1,000 same delivery and option, at 15¼; 2,000 spot at 15¾; 1,000 till July, seller, at 16; and 1,000 from April 15th to June 1st, on private terms. In the afternoon there were plenty of sellers at 15½ to 15¾, and no buyers.

REFINED—There was but a single sale reported to day, 1,000 March seller, at 32; in the afternoon the same delivery was offered at 31½, without finding buyers. April and May quoted at 34; April to July at 34½: May to September at 35½@36, and July to December at 36¼ @36½.

RIVER NEWS.

The river was falling slowly last evening, with six feet five inches in the channel by the Monongahela marks. Weather moderating; mercury at 4 P. M. 40. Where exposed to the sun, the snow has almost entirely disappeared.

The Glasgow, departed for the Upper Mississippi last evening with an excellent trip. Pilots, Marsh Hays and Tom Javens.

The Julia No. 2, departed for Zanesville, also the Fayette for Parkersburg.

The Grey Eagle, Capt. C. L. Brerman, is the regular packet for Parkersburg to-day, leaving at noon.

The new pilot house on the Glendale, in the place of the one that was burned, adds very much to her apperrance, and she looks as good as new. As noted elsewhere, she leaves for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi to-day without fail.

Business continues moderately active at the landing, freights offering pretty freely for all points, and emigration South and West is unabated.

The new and staunch Mollie Ebert, Capt. G. W. Ebert, is announced for St. Louis and Missouri River forthwith. The Mollie is an excellent craft.

—The Kate Putnam was to have left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Monday.

—The Mate of the Silver Bew is reported badly injured, at St. Louis, by a falling spar.

—The Lorena, Capt. Sam Sherman, is announced for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi.

—It is reported the Lizzie McGill will take the place of the Peoria City in the Omaha line.

—Capt. H. G. M'Comas is negotiating for the Countess for the Nashville and St. Louis trade.

—The new mountain steamer Colossal, Capt. M. A. Cox, is up for St. Louis and Missouri River.

—The Camelia added 50 tons at Cincinnati for Nashville, and departed with a big trip. Pilots, Gardner and Matheny.

—The Magenta is enroute from New Orleans to St. Louis with a big trip. She has a regiment of soldiers for Leavenworth.

—The Tallulah, which exploded her boilers and sunk in the Ocmulgee river, near Hawkinsville, Ga., will prove a total loss.

—Capts. Ashford and Moult. Harry, of Memphis, have purchased one-half of the Memphis and White river packet Mollie Hambleton.

—It was reported at St. Louis on Sunday, that the new steamer Silver Bow had sunk in the Missouri River, but nothing definite was known.

—While the W. J. Lewis was "sparring" over a bar in the Missouri, on Wednesday, the derrick broke, letting the spar down with a crash, and in its fall struck the mate, killing him instantly.

—A special from Omaha says the Missouri river is rising rapidly, with a prospect of the opening of navigation within a few days. The weather is mild. Heavy storms are reported at Salt Lake and further West.

—There is quite a lively competition going on in the Sandy and Portsmouth trade between the steamers Jonas Powell and Viola. Freight and passage are very low, which, while benefitting the customers, must be ruinous to the owners of said steamers, —The R. C. Gray, left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Saturday with a moderate trip. Pilots, Nick Whitten and James Shouse. Mr. Ezra Young, who has long been clerk of the Gray, we understand, contemplates quitting the river, and going into business here.

—The Emma No. 3, after a long absence, during which time she has been engaged in plying between Cincinnati and New Orleans, arrived yesterday from Cincinnati, with an excellent trip. As will be seen by advertisement, she is up for New Orleans forthwith.

—As the tow boats, Greyhound and Resolute, were dropping three tows of coal through the canal, on Friday, the latter struck one of her boats against the abutment, causing it to sink in four minutes. It contained 20,000 bushels of coal, and was owned by W. H. Brown.

—Some of the Upper Mississippi papers are relying upon the Diamond Jo Line to "smash the non-competion arrangements entered into by the Northern and White Collar Lines" They say that the line is not a very extensive one, but, such as it is, it promises to do interesting things.

—A bulk-boat containing 2,800 bbls of crude oil, in tow of the towboat G. A. Thompson, coming out of the Little Kanawha last Thursday, took fire and totally destroyed. The towboat was cut loose from the oil-boat, and narrowly escaped burning. The oil belonged to Messrs. Bakewell, James & Co., of Parkersburg.

—The parties to the contest at Washington for the Government contract of transportation on the Missouri River are John N. Bofinger and Joab Lawrence, for Chicago. Joab is not there except by proxy. They are both shrewd, experienced business men. Chicago relies much on its railroad transportation to Sioux City and Omaha.

—The Importer, which has been running in the Arkansas River and New Orleans trade, is en route for St. Louis to undergo repairs, preparatory to entering the mountain trade. It is said she has made larger profits than any other St. Louis steamer that has been running lately in Southern tributaries. The Agnes was doing tolerably well before her career ended.

—Dispatches from Louisville state that the Carrie V. Kountz, narrowly escaped collision with the piers while descending the falls on Sunday. Just as she was headed down toward the falls it was found that her machinery was out of order. She swung around sideways, and in that position passed between the piers and safely over the falls. The derangement to her machinery was remedied, and she went on her way rejoicing.

—We glean the following from the St. Louis Democrat of Monday in regard to the reported sinking of the Silver Bow: No accident had befallen the mate of the Silver Bow at last accounts, and the reported accident to the steamer itself is doubted. Capt. Lamothe, of the Glasgow, says she was lying at a bar in Prunty bend, listed with one guard near the surface of the water; about 30 tons of her freight on bar; passengers on bar lounging about; Capt. L asked what was the matter, and some one answered by taking off hat and motioning as if he would thrust his arm through it, which Capt. L. interpreted to mean—a hole has been knocked in her. This is all the foundation learned for the report of the sinking of the Silver Bow.

They say that Commissioner Wells is about to publish an elaborate reply to Messrs. Kelley and Carey, to be printed as an advertisement, in some of the journals, on their usual terms.

The complete vote of New Hampshire, at the late election, shows a Republican majority of 3,730, a gain of 1,218 over the corresponding election in 1868, although the aggregate vote for both tickets was 9,346 less.

The bill creating a Board of Water Commissioners for this city, the text of which we have already published in the proceedings of the City Councils, passed finally in the House at Harrisburg yesterday. The Park bill passed at the same time.

It is proposed, in one branch of the Ohio Legislature, to inquire "by what authority the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway Company act as a corporation in Ohio, and to report on the necessity and expediency of requiring the filing of an information in the nature of a quo warranto, in the proper Court, against said Company."

The bill to incorporate the East End Gas Company has passed both Houses of the Legislature. We do not know how it was amended in the House as stated by our Harrisburg correspondent, but presume the clause permitting the proposed Company to connect with the pipes of the Pittsburgh Gas Company was stricken out.

If Congress shall succeed in settling the Tenure-of Office imbroglio, in passing an Indian appropriation bill and in providing for certain pressing questions of Southern reconstruction, an adjournment may be looked for by the close of next week. Nevertheless, there are many other questions of public importance, which might occupy a much longer session.

The friends of Lincoln University at Oxford, in this State, have memorialized Congress for a donation of public lands. This institution is conducted for the benefit of the colored race, who have, as yet, had no share of the public bounty for educational purposes. Certainly, their application is, in that point of view, a meritorious one, and should be favorably considered by Congress.

The majority of the Joint Committee appointed by the Legislature to inquire into the facts connected with the contested election of Thayer, Republican, against Greenbank, the sitting Judge of the District Court of Philadelphia, will report to-day in favor of the former, throwing out the votes of all districts where fraud and disorder prevailed. It will be gratifying to the people throughout the State should the seat be awarded to the gentleman who was fairly elected to it, and Democracy receive the rebuke so richly merited.

Elections were held in Indiana yesterday, for members of the Legislature, in place of those who "bolted" and resigned ten days ago. It is scarcely necessary to remark that the late members called themselves Democrats, and that their districts are likely to return others who make the same claim. If a single Republican were chosen yesterday, it was a Republican gain. The new members are summoned to attend the Legislature on the 8th of April, by which time we hope to have some Congressional provision against future Democratic conspiracies to evade a clear Federal duty.

If Mr. Henry D. Foster consents to be dragooned by the Post, and driven by the Democratic "whippers-in," into the surrender of his own private judgment, renewing the election contest which he has, it is said, once expressed his intention to abandon, by all means, let him proceed. But we have heretofore had some respect for his discretion, and we will give him credit for knowing his own mind, and for courage and manhood enough to snap his fingers at anything like dictation or compulsion, even from the Pittsburgh Post. Let us wait and see how he responds to the crack of our neighbors whip about his ears!

It is announced that Mr. Horace Greeley refuses to accept the mission to Spain, and has politely informed the President that he does not desire any office at his hands. This is the course it was expected that the father of journalists would pursue. He can afford to be independent. No man's word in the nation is more highly respected, and no one's teachings find so many eager to adopt and follow. Even in the Presidential chair he could not occupy the enviable position he now fills as an independent, straightforward, earnest journalist, daily talking to millions, who strain their ears to catch what he says and file into the line of opinion which he leads.

Shall Cuba be recognized as a belligerent power? This is a question which will shortly be pressed upon Congress and the President. The agent of the Provisional Government of that Island is in Washington with his case well made up to ask the United States Government to grant the revolutionists recognition. He asserts that slavery has been wiped out, that one-third the territory has been completely wrested from the Spanish grasp, and that the insurgents have the ability to carry on war until the authority of the mother country be entirely overthrown. Spain, in her conduct towards our government during the late rebellion, made a record which cannot be appealed to now to secure sympathy, and if the question of national honor can be set aside, Cuba should receive the moral strength following her recognition as a belligerent power.

Omaha, the promising city of Nebraska, is rapidly assuming metropolitan dimensions. Its population grows steadily, and we doubt not that the census of 1870 will reveal twenty-five thousand inhabitants, where, ten years ago, there were less than five hundred. Already the city has in operation a first-class gas works, a horse railroad, a number of staunch banking concerns and two enterprising and ably managed daily newspapers. The erection of water works is talked of as a thing to be accomplished in the near future. We look upon Omaha as the city that will, before long, rival the proudest of the west. It has the position and surroundings to early secure the greatness it is destined to enjoy, and the people making up the population are of that enterprising and progressive character to insure its rapid development into a great and powerful city.

The trial of George Kauffman for the brutal and cold blooded murder of a little boy, who gave as provocation for the taking of his innocent life the act of looking into the window of the culprit, was concluded yesterday in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, and the jury are now out determining the verdict. If capital punishment ought to be visited upon those who shed a brother's blood, the prisoner should expiate his offense on the scaffold, for a more heinous and dastardly piece of crime and cowardice was never before enacted in this community. Under the technicalities of the law, however, it is hardly possible for the jury to return a verdict finding the prisoner guilty of a degree of murder higher than that of second degree, and the penitentiary will be burdened with maintaining a life, for a term of years, that as richly deserves speedy extinguishment in an ignominious death as any who have of late perished in the yard of the county jail.

The Tenure-of Office question at Washington is likely to be adjusted by a compromise. A new bill is to be reported to the Senate, so to amend the present law as to exclude the Cabinet from its provisions, and expressly authorizing the President to appoint and remove at pleasure, without assigning reasons for his action, subject only to the Constitutional advice and consent of the Senate, to which his action during any recess must be submitted within twenty days after it shall re-convene. A measure of this sort is expected to be satisfactory to the Senate, to the President and to the House. The bill is to be reported to-day or to-morrow, and it is hoped that it will pass rapidly through all the legislative forms.

In this way the Senate will practically retain its present right of participation in the matter of removals, as recognized by that feature of the present law, which restores a suspended officer, unless the Senate concurs in the Executive act. With this the President is to be relieved from the obligation to specify reasons or to make charges against an official whom he dismisses.

INAUGURATING REFORM.

And now comes Commodore Jack Bunsby, and swears that the new Administration is "reforming" the Navy to the dogs. We are afraid that Secretary Borie is dreadfully in earnest, and that he is altogether too well aided by such experts as Admiral Porter, in this very disagreeable business, of breaking out and throwing overboard all the useless dunnage which has encumbered the Navy, and taxed the Treasury from time immemorial. Never before have we had honesty, capacity, energy and a complete familiarity with every detail, in the management of this arm of service. Now, the Secretary undertakes the task with all the qualifications which his own technical experience affords, and with the co-operation of an Admiral who is known as one of the most thoroughly instructed officers in the service.

We regard this clamor, which the movements of Sherman and Borie, in their respective departments, occasion among the naval and military barnacles who have grown gray in places of profit and ease, as a clear proof that we are at last to have the long desired and much needed reforms, securing economy and promoting efficiency in each service. Heretofore, the naval and military expenditures of the government were altogether regulated by a sort of close junta,—the respective Committees of Congress, acting in harmony with an exclusive clique of bureau-officers, who were pensioned upon the government under the pretext of special service about the departments. These rings monopolized all the information touching the two services—and contrived to keep the details to themselves, carrying their appropriations through Congress by some sort of hocus-pocus electioneering which nobody could understand, and which yet always seemed to succeed. Our annual budget showed so many millions for the Army and so many other millions for the Navy,—figures upon which the outside world was expected to look with a respectful acquiescence, but which, as a good many people have always thought, covered up extravagance without limit, favoritism without shame, and scandalous jobs without number and without check. Nor has the country been persuaded that the recent administration of that venerable mariner, Welles, was remarkable for its tendency to disturb this condition of things. On the contrary, there are people who incline to think that, under that excellent gentleman, a system of abuses was getting no better very fast—in short, that the sword of Gideon was forever smiting the Treasury.

We are encouraged to believe that, hereafter, the why and the whither of the immense annual appropriations for these branches of the public service, are not to be as a sealed book to the popular mind; that the country is to know where its money goes; that it is to be spent honestly and economically, and that contractors and drones are no longer to fatten upon the unlimited Treasury pickings which have enriched them for the past five and twenty years.

Secretaries Borie and Rawlings, seconded by Porter and Sherman, are doing good service to the State. They have the honor to be first in the inauguration of the new policy about which the people have heard so much of late, and especially in last year's canvass. The civil service will support the same policy, as soon as Messrs. Boutwell, Cresswell, Cox and Delano get suitable tools to work with, in the reorganization of the personnel of their respective departments. The Army and Navy, having little to do with tenure-of office bills, have been taken in hand at once,—and to some purpose, if we may judge from the wails of the victims. The heads of the two services are cordially sustained by the zealous and intelligent good will of the proper House Committees, in which Schofield and Negley are active and influential members. The joint exertions of the Committees and of the Departments cannot fail to put such a clean and honest face, upon naval and military matters, as to command a general public satisfaction.

TRADE-BALANCES.

The Commercial insists that nations, or individuals, are prosperous only when they receive more than they pay out. We agree with our cotemporary in that. But, if the receipts exceed the expenses, what matters the particular form in which those receipts may be realized? If the individual, or the nation, has a balance to the credit side in any form of possessions, to show for the money's worth, that is regarded, all the world over, as the mark of a sound prosperity. Whatever either receives is paid for in money, in labor, or in material products, and in the latter must be included the gold which, like wheat or potash, our country yields to American labor.

In only one point of view does the equal analogy fail. The nation, exporting more than it imports, is supposed to prosper—and why? Not because that balance is lost, but because it is certain to be repaid in some valuable way. On the contrary, the individual paying out more than he receives, always finds it a losing game. This distinction must be manifest to every one—and especially to gentlemen who, about this time, make expensive journeys, say to Washington, and come home with nothing but fleas in their ears. We need not press either the argument, or that illustration upon the Commercial.

Our cotemporary is befogged, as usual. It clings, in the infantile inexperience of its philosophy, to certain vague ideas which are unworthy of the ripe sagacity usually accredited to it by its still confiding friends. Will the Commercial contrive to comprehend that exporting and paying-out are not equivalent terms? The exports of a nation appear in its customs-returns, but by no means cover the sum of all its out-payments in foreign commerce. That sum is exactly represented only by the gross amount for which it gets credit on the books of its customers abroad. As long as this sum is equal to that other amount for which we credit the foreign production on our own books, so long our people are not losers by the traffic. We know what these last figures are, but can make only an approximate estimate of the former. Or does the Commercial imagine that our export estimates are literally adopted as the proper figures in the import-estimates of England and Continental Europe?

Our national securities represent, clearly, the debt of the government to somebody, for monies furnished to the Treasury to pay our war-expenses. There is no mistake about that debt, and we have it to pay. Can the Commercial tell us how and why it comes that we are gradually but surely paying it? Who furnished that money? For the most part, our own people. It was at first almost wholly a domestic debt. If the foreigner, under our appreciated credit, will give the American holder more for these bonds than they cost him, the latter sells out, getting his money back and a small profit besides. He can take his pay as he pleases, in goods or gold. What matters it, so long as the kind and value are satisfactory. That value has come into American hands—and these will not bring it in a napkin, but will use it for the making of further gains. And what matters it whether the national creditors be abroad or at home, except, if abroad, that we are using their money instead of or in addition to our own? Must the Commercial persist in regarding that as an unfortunate state of things? Or does it fear that we shall make ducks and drakes of all this money so as to be short when settling-day comes? It may dismiss its apprehensions. We had the money to take these bonds in the first place. We have the money for which we have re-sold them. We have value received for all outstanding obligations; we are turning it over every day to a profit, and when the settlement comes, we shall have the assets, and a margin left to show that we have been getting rich. In the meantime, we make a commodity of the precious metals which we produce, selling them for cash or goods where they will sell best, and we need have no fear about a balance of trade which, in point of fact, there are the best of reasons for regarding as really in our favor and yielding us a daily increase in the national prosperity.

Washington Items.

The President has established a rule that no Republican holding office under commission shall be removed till the time expires for which said commission was issued, and then said officer can have his chances for reappointment.

The desire to get away is not so great as it was a week ago, and the indications are that Congress will not adjourn for three weeks, and possibly not until the last of April. Mr. Sumner thinks not until some time in May, and the Senate will probably remain a week or two after the House adjourns.

One of the last things Postmaster General Randall did before leaving office was to grant the request of two Republican members of Congress for passes to China by our mail steamer line, from New York, for the benefit of their sons. By giving them authority to act as special agents this was accomplished.

Governor Hayes had a long and highly satisfactory interview with the President, on Thursday night last. The Governor speaks in the highest terms of President Grant's ability and determination to do his duty. Governor Hayes thinks there is not the slightest danger of a difference between President Grant and his Republican friends in Congress.

No appointments will be made in Connecticut, of any sort, until after the election, and persons insisting upon circulating petitions for offices in the midst of the canvass will fare badly. Postmaster General Creswell favors a clean sweep of all men who do not heartily support the Republican candidates.

Senator Howard, of Michigan, had an interesting interview with the President yesterday. The latter showed considerable feeling on the debate in the Senate on the tenure-of-office act. He said his view of the law was such that he could not make removals without cause while it stood. Mr. Howard said he could vote for suspension but under no circumstances could he support the absolute repeal. The Senator came away thinking that the President had misapprehended the law.

Allegheny Mayor's Office.

Mayor Drum had quite a large attendance at his levee yesterday morning. First there were four individuals of bibulous proclivities, who had unfortunately consumed more beer the evening previous than was consistent with quietude of conduct or steadiness of locomotion, hence they naturally brought up in the lock-up. They were each fined two dollars and costs. Two of them paid fines and the other two were consigned to the care of Warden Scandrett, of the county jail. Next Belle Kelley, a celebrated heroine, known to our readers by reputation, together with two companions, was presented. The three had been arrested the evening previous by one of the night watchmen, who discovered them in the Second ward, slightly intoxicated and disturbing the peace of the neighborhood by their actions. They were each furnished with a certificate for thirty days free boarding on the "Hill." Lastly, John Burns and Daniel Grover were arraigned for disorderly conduct. Monday evening found them, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, perambulating Chestnut street, in the Eighth ward, and deporting themselves in a manner quite at variance with the principles of peaceable citizenship. Daniel and John were each required to pay five dollars for their unseemly conduct and were then set free.

Mrs. F. M. Barclay's Lectures.

Editors Gazette: I wish to call the attention of the ladies of Pittsburgh and Allegheny who have not had the pleasure, or have not availed themselves of the privilege, of listening to the very instructive and useful lectures of the gifted and learned Mrs. Barclay, of Chicago, on the all-important subject of the laws relating to the promotion and preservation of the health of American women, which every lady in our country should be acquainted with and reduce to practice. To say nothing of the vast amount of valuable information imparted, the style and manner of her address, her flow of language, her beauty of thought and expression, would more than compensate any lady for the time and small expense of attending her lectures.

Presentation.

The heirs of Joseph Allen, deceased, yesterday presented William S. Boyd, Esq., with a beautiful gold watch and chain, as an appreciative token of the able and satisfactory manner in which he had settled the estate of their late father. The presentation was made by Geo. E. McLain, Esq., on behalf of the heirs, in a few appropriate and well chosen remarks.

Mr. Boyd responed in a happy speech, thanking the heirs for their unexpected but valuable present.

Remarks complimentary both to the donors and recipient were made by Col. Archibald Blakely, Capt. J. W. Kirker, Thos. Donnelly, Esq., and Samuel McMasters, Esq.

The presentation was preceded by an elegant repast provided by M. McGinley, Esq., at his new rooms on Wood street.

The watch is a magnificent one, of American manufacture, and was purchased of W. W. Wattles, No. 41 Fifth avenue.

A Business Difficulty.

John Campbell made information before Alderman McMasters, yesterday, against Herman Reisenstein for larceny as bailee. The accused is charged with surreptitiously obtaining a certain article of agreement, made between Campbell and W. and A. Fedenheimer, relative to the purchase of a lot of goods in the store, No. 62 Market street; and also in regard to the settlement of said Campbell's indebtedness to his Philadelphia creditors, together with the key of said store, which he holds and refuses to give up possession. The defendant is a Philadelphian, and it is said is acting in behalf of parties in that city. The difficulty arises out of some complications in the business transactions between the parties. The accused was arrested and gave bail in the sum of $5,000 for a hearing.

Matrimonial Infelicities.

Yesterday Margaret Perrott, a resident of Glendale, about ten miles below the city, on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, lodged an information before Alderman McMasters against her husband, William Perrott, for abandonment, and against William Perrott and Mrs. Coulton for surety of the peace. The prosecutrix alleges that Perrott has abandoned her, and has persistently refused, for some time past, to do anything toward the support of herself or children. Furthermore, she alleges, Perrott and Mrs. Coulton conspired to take her life, and had actually sharpened a knife especially to carry their design into execution. Perrott was arrested, but waived a hearing, and gave bail in the sum of $1,000 for trial.

A Nuisance.

John Wolf, a resident of the Fourth ward, Allegheny, was before Mayor Drum, last evening, on a charge of maintaining a nuisance, on complaint of several of his neighbors. Wolf, it seems, is a bone merchant—that is, he is engaged in the business of collecting bones, &c., throughout the city, and selling them to glue manufacturers. His neighbors allege that after collecting his stock he stores it about his premises until a sale of it can be effected. The odor arising from the stuff is too much for them, hence the complaint. After a hearing in the case the accused was released upon payment of a nominal fine and promising to offend no more.

A Contumacious Scholar.

S. C. McMasters, one of the Directors of the Sewickley Public School, made information before Alderman McMasters yesterday against Andrew Murdock, a lad about seventeen years of age, and a pupil in the school for aggravated assault and battery. The accused, it is alleged, refused to obey the orders of his teacher, and when being punished, turned upon that individual, hit him with a slate, beat him with a stick which he picked up in the school room, and otherwise maltreated and abused the preceptor. Murdock was arrested and gave bail in the sum of one thousand dollars for a hearing on Saturday.

For Clerk of Courts.

Elsewhere we publish the card of Major Joseph Browne, announcing himself as a candidate for Clerk of Courts, subject to the nomination of the Union Republican party. Major Browne rendered conspicuous service in the late war, was a brave and gallant officer, and during the late campaign labored zealously for the triumph of the Republican cause. He desires the office but one term and should he obtain it, he will carry with him to the discharge of his duties, a large experience and ability for the work which will make him an efficient and reliable officer.

—The Prensa (at Havana,) reports that twenty-five insurgents, mostly of high rank in the rebel army, were captured and executed within five leagues of Trinidad, but adds that the situation in that quarter is more serious than has hitherto appeared.

—At Brooklyn, on Monday, several passengers of the ship James Foster, Jr., made affidavits charging the carpenter with the murder of two passengers, and the boatswain with the murder of a seaman. They also allege the officers of the ship were implicated in these murders. The first mate of the ship died at his residence, in Brooklyn, on Saturday evening.

—Last year Thos. Filburn, an engineer on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, was killed a few miles from Louisville by his train coming in collision with a tree that had fallen on the track. Mrs. Julia Filburn, his wife, sued the Company for damages, placing the amount at $20,000. The case was under consideration for several days before the Court of Common Pleas at Louisville, and last evening the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $10,000.

—Anna Dickinson lectured at St. Louis last evening to a very large and brilliant audience. She spoke nearly two hours and a half, and was repeatedly and enthusiastically applauded. Miss Phoebe Cousins, of St. Louis, who is closely identified with the woman suffrage movement, will make her debut before a public audience next Wednesday, on which occasion she will lecture on woman. Her friends claim she is very talented, and that she will become the Anna Dickinson of the West.

EXAMINE BEFORE CONDEMNING.

One of the most important considerations to those who wish to live happily, is that of human health: a fact well known and deeply deplored by all who have lost or had it impaired. We know well enough that the thousands of compounds for its restoration are in many instances merely the inventions of those who desire to beguile the public and enrich themselves. It therefore becomes those who do not wish to be imposed upon, to examine the proof of the efficacy of a medicine, before trusting to its merits, or tampering with their health. DR. KEYSER'S BLOOD SEARCHER, in the class of diseases for which he recommends it, is without a peer or a rival. It stands among blood purifying and alterative medicine, as the Alps among mountains, overtopping them. The rich vegetable juices of which it is composed are sure to renew the blood and re-invigorate the frame of man. We wish it understood, however, that we speak solely of chronic diseases—and those which have their origin in a depraved and cachectic state of the system. We would much rather that not one bottle of this great Blood Searcher should ever be sold, than it should not do good; and in every case to which it is suited, it will do good. There are thousands of readers of the Gazette who have some slight indisposition or ailment inconveniencing or interfering with the enjoyment of life, who could be cured by the use of less than a bottle of Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher. Especially is this true at this season of the year, when the powers of life, like the changes of the seasons, are emerging from the state of winter to spring, and spring to summer. The dollar that you expend to buy it will be regarded as of little consequence when placed in the scale with that renewed energy and elasticity of health which it will be sure to impart. And besides, the tone which it gives is lasting and real, wholly unlike the fiery and spasmodic glow imparted by most alcoholic stimulants; for whilst these corrode and depress the system when their stimulating effects have passed off, that invigorates the stomach, renews its vital powers, heals its irritated coats, and enables it to concoct and convert into chyle the food which is received into it for that end. No one can over-estimate the value to health of a single bottle of Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher at this season of the year. It will make life and health to bloom under its influence like the genial rays of the sun invigorates and starts into life the whole field of Nature. SOLD BY THE GROS, DOZEN OR SINGLE BOTTLE, AT THE DOCTOR'S GREAT NEW MEDICINE STORE, NO. 167 LIBERTY STREET. DR. KEYSER'S CONSULTING OFFICE FOR ALL CHRONIC DISEASES, NO. 120 PENN STREET, FROM 10 A. M. UNTIL 4 P. M.

THE TRYING SEASON.

The searching winds, the cold, drizzling rains, the heavy fogs, and occasional warm and moist days of March, render it upon the whole, the most unhealthy month of the year. Its depressing influences are especially unfavorable to invalids, and thousands of persons with feeble constitutions, who have borne the winter bravely, break down in the first month of Spring. The variations of temperature and cold east winds are a serious trial to the dyspeptic and bilious, whose symptoms they invariably aggravate. Intermittent fever is also rife when ever her miasmic poison is in the water or the soil. To enable the system to combat these evils, there is nothing like a good vegetable tonic and among this class of medicines HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS stand supreme. Medical men prescribe it in preference to any of the tonic preparations of the pharmacopoia. They are aware that the ordinary tincture and extracts are all based upon cheap alcohol, which is surcharged with an acrid essential oil, and absolutely poisonous. They know, on the other hand, that the rectified essence of the finest rye grown in this country is the sole spirituous ingredient of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, and that the vegetable medicinal elements of which it is composed are of rare efficacy. Hence, it has the confidence of physicians, and finds its way into hospitals where no other proprietary medicine is sanctioned.

A course of the BITTERS is especially recommended to persons of delicate habit, of both sexes at this season. In the fever and ague districts of the West and South, quinine has been almost universally discarded as a chologogue, and this valuable antidote to malarious disorders adopted in its stead. A double gain is realized by the change, for the bitters, unlike that dangerous alkaloid, are agreeable to the palate, and their curative effect is much more permanent.

THE ECONOMY BUTTER CO.

ask the attention of all interested in the reduction of the extravagant cost of Butter, to their practical and economical system of making pure prime Butter by the aid of the

EXTRACT OF BUTTER PLANT.

A brief allusion to the origin of this important discovery may not prove uninteresting. Among the authenticated records of the renowned Captain Cook's voyage around the world, is found the statement, that while sojourning for a short time on the Brazilian Coast of South America, he observed the natives using, in the preparation of their food, a peculiar oil, which, upon examination, he found to possess the appearance, taste and flavor of Butter; upon further inquiry, however, he ascertained that it was simply a substance that the natives distilled in a crude and imperfect manner, from a rich and luxurious plant that grew spontaneously and abundantly in that warm tropical country. A few years since an eminent French chemist, while on a professional visit to the tropics, made numerous experiments with this remarkable production of nature, and succeeded in extracting a concentrated essence of the plant. The formula for its preparation, and the Sole Right for its sale in this country are the exclusive property of this Company, by whom it was purchased from the original discoverer. We claim for this remarkable yet simple and perfectly harmless preparation—

1st.—That by its use a net gain of from 50 to 200 per cent. is made in the manufacture of Butter.
2d.—That Butter, which from age or whatever cause, may be strong, rancid, streaked or coarse-grained, and comparatively useless for general use, by the aid of this Extract, is restored to its original freshness and sweetness, fine-grain, and even color.
3d.—By the use of this Extract, one pound of delicious, fresh Butter is actually made from one pint of milk.
4th.—That a pure and excellent table Butter can be made, at a cost of from 15 to 20 cents per pound. The chief expense wherein being Butter, which is the essential base.
5th.—That Butter manufactured by the aid of this Extract is equal in every respect to the best Butter made by the ordinary method.
6th.—The Extract after thorough analysis, by able chemists, is pronounced perfectly free from any deleterious substance, the ingredients being purely of a vegetable nature.
8th.—In proof of the foregoing assertions, the factory of this company is making one ton of Butter per day, which meets with ready sale in the New York Market, and is consumed from the tables of the first Hotels, Restaurants and Private families in this city and elsewhere.

A sample package of the Extract sufficient to make 50 lbs. of Butter, with full directions for use, will be sent to any address on receipt of $1.

CAUTION.—As articles of real merit are subject to spurious imitations, we would specially caution the public against counterfeits and worthless imitations, advertised as powders, compounds, &c., as the Extract of the Butter Plant is prepared and sold only by

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, March 23, 1869.

The gold market was steady to-day at 131⅛. The high rates for money makes parties disinclined to buy on speculation, although it is pretty certain that an advance in the gold premium will take place just as soon as the remaining bond bills are disposed of. Bankers, who bought bonds with a view of holding them in Europe for higher prices, find that it is even more expensive to have bonds carried in Europe than it is here. In the money centres of Europe, call loans (Lombards) are charged from one to four per cent. above the regular discount rate, whilst in our seaport cities call loans are generally from three to four per cent. below ordinary prime business rates. Another drawback to the further advance of our bonds in Europe by speculators, is the disfavor with which the State institutions look upon the advance of American securities, whilst home securities are neglected, and yet nearly every State is in the market for new loans. Every obstacle possible will be thrown in the way to keep our bonds from further distribution among the small capitalists, who have lately withdrawn their small means from the savings banks and put their money in 5-20 bonds.

All the old issues of Governments were dull and lower to-day; only the new bonds were slightly better. But at the close there was a general decline of all descriptions. Neither dealers nor foreign bankers are investing largely at present; in fact, they are indisposed to buy at all.

Stocks were very excited, especially New York Central, which jumped from 153 yesterday to 160¾ to-day; Fort Wayne from 119½ to 121¾; and nearly the entire list was from two to three per cent. higher.

Express shares were strong, but it is expected that a general decline will follow this sudden rise and that lower quotations will prevail at the stock exchange. In fact, unless prices come down considerably, no outside bona fide investor will buy at present quotations, and brokers may as well close their offices.

Business is exceedingly dull and money scarce.

Quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz: Gold, 131⅛; Silver, 124; Eighty; one's, 116¼; Five Twenties, 1862, 118½, do 1864, 114¼; do 1865, 116¼; do 1865, Consols, 113¾; do 1867, 113¾; do 1868 ——; Ten Forties, 105¼; New York Central, 58½; Erie, ——; Reading, 92; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, 121½; Ohio & Mississippi, 33; Michigan Southern, 96⅞; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 89⅜; Chicago & Rock Island, 31½; Chicago & North Western, 84⅞; Chicago & North Western Preferred, 92¾; Adams Express Company, 59; Merchants Union Express, 16; Pacific Mail, 90½; Western Union Telegraph Company, 38½; Gregory, 2,45; Quartz Hill, 85; Corydon, —; Smith & Parmlee, 1,35; Am. W. Express 41.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, March 23, 1869.

Money steady at 7 per cent. on call, with rather more activity towards the close. Merchants are pressing banks for accommodations, but a good deal of paper has been thrown out and is offered on the streets at 8@10 per cent. The bank examiners have been examining the banks, and some are calling in loans. Four millions is mentioned in three amounts. The banks with Western connections expect an active demand for currency, within thirty days, to move the accumulated grain of the winter to the seaboard. There is but little currency coming from the South. Sterling dull at 8¼@8¾ per cent. for prime bankers for sixty days, and 8¾@8⅞ per cent. for sight. Gold steady, opened at 131 and closed at 131⅛@131¼. Rates for carrying, 5½ per cent.

Clearances to-day, $60,000,000.

Governments heavy and lower, and some leading dealers sold freely on an expectation of an increased activity, foreign bankers being out of the market for the present. Coupons of '81, 116@116¼; do. '62, 118⅛@118¼; do. '64, 113⅞@114; do. '65, 116@116⅛; new do., 113@113¼; do. '67, 113⅛@113¼; do. '68, 113@113¼; 10-40s, 105@105¼.

State bonds dull and heavy; Missouris, 88⅛@88½; Old Tennessees, 65½@65¾; New do., 64¼@64¼; North Carolinas, 57¼@57¾.

The Stock market is active, excited and higher, with wild and frequent fluctuations, especially on New York and Pacific Mail; the former has risen 7 per cent. and the latter 3 per cent. The movement in Central is understood to be engineered by the Erie combination, on the theory that the script will be legalized by the Legislature. Pacific Mail at one time touched 92¼, a rise of 5 per cent. Rock Island, Fort Wayne and Northwestern were also marked features, and touched respectively, 133½, 122½ and 85¼, while Erie suddenly jumped to 37, but reacted to 35½. The market closed feverish and unsettled.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, March 23, 1869.

There is a rather better feeling in commercial circles, and some branches of business are beginning to give evidence of increased activity, though there is still plenty of room for improvement. We hear a good deal of complaint about the credit system and the great difficulty in making collections. As a general thing, our business men are opposed to what is termed the credit system, that is, they expect all bills to be paid upon delivery, unless it is stipulated at the time the sale is made, that a certain time is to be allowed. And we believe this is generally understood, that a sale always means cash, unless there is a special arrangement at the time in regard to the matter, and when a man buys an article he has no right to expect thirty or sixty days time, unless it is so understood with the seller at the time.

APPLES—Scarce and in good demand; may be quoted at $4½@6½ per bbl, as to quality.

APPLE BUTTER—Demand fair and market steady at 80@90c.

The demand for Oats is only moderate, though the market is reported steady at 65@66 on track, and 68@70 in store. Corn is dull and neglected but unchanged; may be quoted on wharf, and track, at 70@75. Barley is quiet and a little dull; prime to choice Spring $2@2,10. Rye dull and nominal at $1,40@1,43.

SEEDS—There is a very fair demand for Clover, with sales at $10@10,50, and Timothy at $3 50@3,75. Flaxseed quoted at $2,45@2,50.

SALT—Is quiet but steady, and is still quoted at $2 by the car load.

SORGHUM—60@65c.

Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, March 23.—The market continues feverish and a good deal excited for certain classes of goods, which are selling at a loss to manufacturers. Notwithstanding the high prices prevailing for all raw materials, the depression in cottons has extended to woolens, without as yet imparting a great stimulus to trade, and lines of fine and fancy Cassimeres and Coatings have been closed out at very low rates. Worsted Shawls are also being closed out at very low rates, say $2,75 for well known makes. Ristori shawls are in request at $3,50. Prints are moving freely at the decline, and we quote all the leading makes at 11½@12½c.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

M. E. ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

Much Business Transacted—Those Admitted on Trial—Money Received for Beneficiaries—Church Extension—Anniversary—Addresses—Sunday Services—Time of Closing &c.

[Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW PHILADELPHIA, OHIO, March 20, 1869.

To-day the Conference has done much business. The following were received on trial, into the traveling connection:

Silas T. Mitchell, M. L. Steffy, Thomas W. Anderson, Merriman C. Harris, Benjamin F. Beazell, R. Keys, J. W. McEntire, Christian H. Feitt, Charles W. Miller, Harris H. Hogan, Joseph W. Miles, Milton M. Sweeney, D. Dudley, William D. Sleise, James H. Mann.

The Board of Stewards report $8,413,99 received this year for the worn out Preachers, and the widows and orphans of Preachers. This is a grand sum—in excess of any former year. In taking care of our beneficence no Conference excelled us; none, I think, equals us. Of this we may be justly proud.

Several Committees have reported and their reports have been adopted.

This evening the Anniversary of the Church Extension Society is being held. Rev. J. A. Gray, of Chicago, who is to take charge of Christ Church, in your city, provided he can get a transfer, makes one of the addresses, and Dr. Dempsey the other.

MONDAY, March 22.

Yesterday was a high day. It was clear and bright; and the people enjoyed it and its privileges very much. All the churches were crowded and their pulpits filled by ministers from the Conference. The Methodist Church was, of course, the place of greatest attraction. A Conference love feast was held at 8½ o'clock A. M., at which there were many witnesses for Jesus. Old men and young and women told their religious experience. God was present and blessed his people. At 10½ o'clock Bishop Ames preached a thoughtful, appropriate and earnest sermon, after which the deacons were ordained. At 3 o'clock Dr. Drummond preached and all the elders were ordained. In the evening Rev. McMullen, of Indiana, delivered a sermon that set everything on fire. He is a wonderful man, wonderful as to voice, manner and power. He closed with a shout and the whole audience seemed to catch the enthusiasm. There was intense feeling. Songs of praise were sung in which the vast multitude present joined, and I may hear better singing this side of Heaven, but I doubt it very much.

The Conference will close to-day.

Place of Next Conference—Reports and Resolutions—Thanks—The Town and People.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, OHIO, March 22, 1869.

The hour's prayer meeting has just closed. It was one of great interest. Dr. Pershing is reading the minutes of Saturday's proceedings.

Johnstown, Brownsville, Pennsylvania avenue, Pittsburgh, Kramer Chapel, Steubenville, Salem, Alliance, Brighton, Kittanning, asked for the next session of our Conference, and Johnstown was selected.

The Conference resolved to raise $11,000 for its claimants the coming year.

The Bishops are requested to fix the time of holding the sessions of our Conference in the latter part of April.

A resolution passed that the preachers be careful to see that a fair and full vote on the question of Lay Delegation be taken in June, as ordered by the last General Conference.

In the report of the Committee on Temperance a resolution was reported and adopted to the effect that a member of our Church who signs a petition for license to sell intoxicating drinks, violates the spirit of the Discipline, and ought to be admonished of the error of his way by his pastor.

At two o'clock P. M. Conference met for its closing session.

The report on the State of the Church has a resolution in it, which was adopted, disapproving of all church fairs and festivals, and condemning dancing and the atre-going.

The assets of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate exceed its liabilities by $12,000, and it has a circulation of 13,000 copies. Its editors received the commendation of the Conference for the able and efficient manner in which they perform their duties.

A series of resolutions of thanks were passed by a unanimous and very hearty vote, to the citizens of New Philadelphia, for the generous manner in which they entertained the members of the Conference. This was most certainly their due, for a cleverer set of people than these Philadelphians it has not been our fortune to meet. They know how to do the right thing by their guests.

Their town is rapidly improving and bids fairly to be a city shortly. The church in which the Conference held its sessions is a new building, large, well-finished and furnished, has a tower and steeple, and a sweet-toned bell, from the foundry of Mr. Fulton, of your city. It is by far the best church in the place.

Two things specially worthy of note respecting the Conference are these: the religious tone of all its proceedings and the great number of people in constant attendance. Both of these were themes of conversation among all the members of the Conference, even among the oldest members.

I append such part of the list of appointments as will interest your readers.

This Company, National in its character, offers, by reason of the Large Capital, Low Rates of Premium and New Tables, the most desirable means of insuring life yet presented to the public.

The rates of premium being largely reduced, are made as favorable to the insurers as those of the best Mutual Companies, and avoid all the complications and uncertainties of Notes, Dividends and the misunderstandings which the latter are so apt to cause the Policy-Holders.

Several new and attractive tables are now presented which need only to be understood to prove acceptable to the public, such as INCOME-PRODUCING POLICY and RETURN PREMIUM POLICY. In the former, the policy-holder not only secures life insurance, payable at death, but will receive, if living, after a period of a few years, an annual income of ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of the par of his policy. The latter the Company agrees to return to the assured the total amount of money he has paid in, in addition to the amount of his policy. The attention of persons contemplating insuring their lives or increasing the amount of insurance they already have, is called to the special advantages offered by the National Life Insurance Company.

Robbed of His Pocketbook.—Robert Grater called at the Mayor's office last evening and stated he had been robbed of his pocketbook, containing $17, while in a den in "Hayti," Seventh ward. He charges Melinda Lucas, a colored female well known to our readers of police reports, with the robbery. Melinda will probably be secured to-day.

Cross Suit.—Louis Fisher made information before Justice Eggers, of Allegheny, yesterday, against Henry Frank for assault and battery. This is a cross suit arising out of a difficulty in a barroom on Spring Garden Run road, Seventh ward, the circumstances of which we published. The case was finally compromised and the information withdrawn.

Accident to an Engineer.—Monday afternoon, Francis Frank, engineer at the Anchor Cotton Mills, Allegheny, while oiling some of the machinery, had his shirt caught by a revolving shaft, and was whirled round two or three times, when fortunately the garment gave way and he fell on the floor, thus escaping from his perilous position. He received a few slight bruises and scratches, but beyond these was unmjured.

Yesterday we saw a fine pair of horses attached to a coal wagon standing in the Allegheny river up to their waists in ice-water, while the wagon was being laden with coal. Fifty yards above was a platform, to which, without much trouble, the coal flat could have been brought. Nobody seems to attend to cases of cruelty to animals hereabouts, so that their only satisfaction is, that such treatment kills them and the murderers lose the money invested in them.

Letter of Inquiry.—A letter has been received by Chief of Police Butler, from Mr. P. S. McGlaskin, of Sarina, Ontario, Canada, making inquiries relative to his son George, who left home about two years since, and when last heard from was acting as agent in this city for the American Horse Insurance Company, of Indianapolis. Any person knowing of the whereabouts of the party referred to, will confer a favor upon Mr. McGlaskin by leaving word at the Mayor's office.

Immediately after it is sold, will be sold Nos. 219 and 221 Penn street, between Eleventh and Twelfth streets, adjoining the National Trust Company, 24 feet front, 100 feet deep. See advertisement elsewhere.

A Threatening Boarder.

Mrs. Mary Sproull made information before Alderman Bailie, of Allegheny, yesterday, against Alfred Pegan for surety of the peace. Mrs. Sproull keeps a boarding house on Pitt alley, in the Third ward, and Mr. Pegan till within a few days past was numbered among her most esteemed boarders. A few days since, however, he concluded to seek elsewhere for lodging and food, and after some search found a suitable place. Yesterday he came to get his trunk away from Mrs. Sproull's, but was prevented from accomplishing his object by that lady, who refused to allow the article to be removed until, according to the statements made, a little bill for boarding was settled. Pegan at this, it is alleged, waxed exceedingly wroth and endeavored to carry out his design vi et armis, but failed. He then—so Mrs. Sproull says—retired discomfitted, but uttering deep and vengeful threats against her, which threats she fears may be carried into execution, hence the information. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Pegan.

THE KAUFMAN-MILLER HOMICIDE.

Court of Oyer and Terminer—Trial of Michael Kaufman, Indicted for the Murder of Edward Miller.

SECOND DAY.

Court re-assembled at nine o'clock yesterday morning, when the following additional testimony, on the part of the prosecution, was adduced:

Robert McClelland, sworn—Was on the pavement in front of the barber shop when the shooting occurred; saw two boys at the window of the shop, who appeared to be jeering at some one inside; looked around and saw the flash of a pistol; saw the man's arm protruding from the window, and after the shot saw him draw it back and close the window. [Plan of premises shown and witness described his position.] The boy who was shot did not appear to be more than four feet from the muzzle of the pistol; did not see the barber's face to recognize it; when I found the boy was shot, I followed the policemen down the steps into the cellar; asked the barber if the pistol was loaded; he said, "it had little tings in it;" saw the barber hand the pistol to the officer; saw him taken in custody.

The witness was subjected to a cross examination, with a view of showing that Kaufman could not see the boy when he fired.

Thomas Maloy, sworn—At the time of the shooting I was coming down Penn street; saw the flash of the pistol coming from the barber shop, but cannot tell whether from the door or window; heard the report and saw the boy put his hand to his breast and heard him scream; then saw him fall upon his knees; Mr. Friday picked up the boy and carried him into the Alderman's office. Did not see the boy before the shooting. No cross examination.

William J. Friday, sworn.—Reside in the Ninth ward; do business at 409 Penn street, near Kaufman's barber shop. On the 6th of February was sitting in my office; heard the report of a pistol; went out; saw a small boy holding his hands; afterwards heard him cry, and then saw him stagger and fall; ran to the boy, picked him up, and asked him if he was hurt; he made no reply; and I then asked Alderman Albeitz if I could bring the boy in his office; I took the boy in, and then sent for a physician; saw the boy was shot; examined the wound; the ball seemed to have entered the back on the left side; could feel the ball under the flesh of the breast; the boy, when I first saw him, was near the steps leading to the barber shop; he lived about eight minutes after I heard the shot.

No cross examination.

Samuel Irvine, a boy, sworn.—On the day Eddie Miller was shot was standing in Barker's tavern door; the tavern is next door to Kaufman's barber shop; saw two or three boys about Kaufman's window; Miller was the only one I knew; did not see Miller do anything; saw Kaufman open one side of the window and put his head and one arm out of the window; saw a revolver in his hand; he pointed it up street, towards the boys; heard the shot, and Eddie Miller turned around three times and then fell on his knees; he then fell on his back; saw Mr. Friday and Mr. Thompson carry him into Alderman Albeitz's office.

Cross examined—It was about half-past five o'clock when I heard the report; Barker's door is about seven feet from Kaufman's window; I think I could see about nine inches of Kaufman's hand and arm extending out of the window; just as I passed heard two little boys telling Miller to run; did not see Miller do anything; did not see him throw at the window; could not tell how far the boys were apart when they told Miller to run; they ran out towards the street; the pistol was not aimed towards the box which surrounds the window.

Re-direct—The box which surrounds the window is about an inch above the pavement; Miller was nearest the window.

W. W. Miller, sworn—Am a police officer; assisted in arresting Kaufman; was first in the barber shop; officers Thomas, Wisenbaum and another officer assisted me; I went into the shop and asked if that shot came out of there; the barber said, "Yes, I shot;" told him he had shot a boy; he said, "Did I hit him?" replied that they said so; then told him to get his coat and come with me; he said, "Yes, all right;" he did'nt make any move, and I urged him to come; he then wiped the lather from the face of a man who was in the chair; I asked for the pistol, and he handed it to me from a drawer; he also gathered the money out of the drawer. [Pistol, a five barrelled revolver, produced.] This is the pistol; I marked it when I received it; I asked Kaufman if there were any more loads in it; he said there were three; I handed the revolver over to Captain Graham; officer Weisenbaum and I started down to the office with Kaufman; on the way down he spoke of sending word to some person to go his bail; he spoke about the annoyance from the boys, and said he had been to the Squire's about them; he said he must do something, and would as leave be out of the world if he could not carry on his business quietly. This is about all the conversation I had with him.

Lieut. Thomas, sworn—Am a Lieutenant of the police; on the evening of the murder was standing at Canal and Liberty street; heard that a boy had been shot; ran over and found a crowd around the barber shop; went in and found officers Wilson and Morrow; asked who shot, and Morrow pointed to the barber; the barber said he shot because the boys darkened the window. After Kaufman was in the cell, was standing at the door explaining to Chief Butler how the boy was shot in the back; Kaufman said, "No, I shot him in the face."

Cross examined—It was an hour after his arrest that I heard Kaufman say he had shot in the face; he appeared surprised at my description of the wound. At the barber shop he said he had shot because the boys darkened the window.

Mayor Brush, sworn—Was Mayor of the city on the 6th day of February; saw Kaufman about six o'clock on the evening of that day, in my private office. He said he had shot the boy, and commenced to make explanation; told him he had better not say anything until his attorney came.

Cross-examined—Can't recollect what explanation he made; I thought he should wait for his attorney.

J. W. Patterson, Esq., sworn—I fired the loads from the pistol produced; found one empty cartridge and four full ones.

The Commonwealth here rested.

THE DEFENSE.

J. H. Kerr, Esq., then opened the case for the defense, in a brief but forcible speech, in which he indicated the line of defense. He said that evidence would be adduced to show that the murder was not wilful or premeditated, and that the shot was fired for the purpose of frightening the boys, who had been annoying him; that he was near sighted, and consequently could not take deliberate aim at the boy at the distance he was from him at the time. Evidence would also be offered to show that the defendant was easily excited, and his previous excellent character.

Edward Barker, sworn—Am proprietor of the Exchange Hotel, corner of Penn and Canal streets. I do not know where Mr. Kaufman lived. He kept his money in a drawer under the shelf where he kept his razors. I have always found him a very good neighbor. His reputation for peace and good order is good.

Cross-examined—Have known defendant one year; never heard his reputation called in question.

Rev. E. F. Garland, sworn—I have known the prisoner for five years. I have heard a few persons speak of him and understand that a few of his German fellow citizens have entertained ill-feelings toward him.

The defense here offered to prove by the witness that the defendant was of an excitable and irascible temperament, and consequently more susceptible to provocation than he otherwise would be. The Commonwealth objected and the Court overruled the offer.

Cross-examined—Defendant was not popular among his German fellow-citizens.

L. J. Blanchard, sworn—Have known defendant for two years. His reputation for peace and good order is generally good. I think he is near-sighted. I have seen him wearing spectacles in the shop.

Cross-examined—I suppose him to be near-sighted from his actions; have seen him when reading holding the paper close to his face; I don't think he wears spectacles when he is shaving his customers; never saw him wear spectacles in the street.

Re-direct—I keep store right opposite defendant's shop.

James Bannon, sworn—I live at 536 Penn street; have known Kaufman for six years; he is an industrous and honest man, and what we call a good neighbor; I have heard some persons call him "the crazy barber"; I never heard any one say anything against his character for peace and good order; have seen him wearing glasses when reading; he holds the paper or book near his eyes.

Bridget Bannon, sworn—I live at 536 Penn street. This witness certified that she had never heard anything against the reputation of defendant. Had frequently seen defendant wearing glasses.

Philip J. Meyers, sworn—I live in Sharpsburgh; have known defendant five years; formerly lived near him; I never heard anything against his character as a peaceable and quiet man; I have seen him often wearing spectacles.

Peter Zern, sworn—I reside in the Ninth ward; live two doors above Mr. Kaufman, on the opp site side of the street; never heard the character of defendant for peace and good order questioned.

Jno. Ostermaier, sworn—Live in Ninth ward; have known defendant for five or six years. His reputation, so far as I know, is good.

Several other witnesses were called as to the character of defendant, whose testimony did not differ from that above.

Nicholas Hoffman, sworn—Am brother-in-law of the defendant; have frequently been in his shop; he kept a pistol in the shop; I have had it in my pocket. The witness was then examined as to the location of the furniture in the shop and the positton of the door and window. I think he is near-sighted; have met him on the street and he did not recognize me, and he holds a paper or book close to his face when reading.

Cross-examined—The chair in the barber shop does not stand in the same position as it did at the time the shooting was done; it is reversed; it then stood about six feet from the window; it is now further off.

The Court here took a recess for half an hour.

At a quarter to two o'clock Court again convened, and the case proceeded.

George Daugh, sworn.—I live on Penn street, at No. 535; know Mr. Kaufman, the defendant; have known him for two years; I never heard anything against his reputation until after this occurrence; before the boy was shot I never heard anything bad against Kaufman.

Cross-examined.—Never heard anything about his reputation either good or bad.

Miss Mary Gamble, sworn.—I live in West Pittsburgh; have known the defendant about three years. I visited his house; his reputation for peace was good in the community where he resided.

Cross-examined—Never heard anything about his reputation, either good or bad.

Elizabeth Gamble, sworn—Reside in West Pittsburgh; have known defendant for about three years; his reputation is good in the community where he resides.

Cross-examined—Visited his house frequently, at least every Sabbath; never heard any one speak of his character.

Nicholas Kersh, sworn—I live in the old Fifth ward; am a blacksmith; have known defendant four years; his reputation in the community where he resided was very good. He lived next door to him for about two years.

Cross-examined—Never heard anything bad about him; could not name any one who I heard speak of his character.

Michael Robitzer, sworn—Live on Fifth avenue; have known defendant since 1859; his reputation for peace is good; never heard anything bad about him.

Charles Wagoner, recalled—I was in the shop of Michael Kaufman on the evening the shooting occurred; the defendant was very mad and angry and appeared excited; I don't know anything about his reputation for peace.

Cross-examined—He was angry and excited at the boys at the window.

Martin Stribe, sworn—Reside in Lawrenceville; know the defendant; have known him for five years; lived within a short distance of him for two years; never heard the neighbors say much about him; he was a good neighbor.

Emma Lair, sworn—Live near Mr. Kaufman. The neighbors say that he is a good neighbor.

Dr. Aughinbaugh, recalled—I do not remember that I have ever examined the head of defendant. The defense proposed to have the witness examine the head of defendant and state the nature of the wound he had received and its effect upon his mental faculties.

The Commonwealth objected to the offer as irrelevant, illegal and improper. The Court sustained the objection.

OPENING ARGUMENT.

The testimony here closed, and District Attorney Pearson opened the argument on the part of the Commonwealth. His address was brief, but he reviewed and commented upon the testimony in an able manner, and held that the defendant was guilty of murder in the first degree. Aside from the sound reasoning of the speech, and the close chain of argument wrought from the evidence, Gen. Pearson developed a rich vein of pathos, and deeply impressed all in the Court room with the utterance of beautiful language, coming fresh from the heart of one who fully realized the awful atrocity of the crime for which the trembling culprit was in jeopardy. In concluding, he said:

Hardened beyond expression must be the man who can deliberately harm an innocent child. We can comprehend how one man can become inflamed with passion against another, this equal in strength, even to the extent of raising his hand against his life, but to harm one of those of whom our Saviour said "of such is the kingdom of Heaven," is beyond our understanding. One of the most atrocious acts in the records of the world is the slaughter of the innocents by Herod, but that act was committed when bloodshed was rife throughout the known world, and civilization was yet in its infancy; but at this time, when crime and murder is the exception, not the rule, to feel that there is a wretch base enough to calmly and deliberately take the life of a harmless child, seems almost an impossibility. Who can describe the feelings that filled the breast of that child's mother when she beheld her dead boy? Only a few years ago she held him to her breast a babe. How she watched him, and tended him with such devotion as only a mother can show; how she folded him in her arms and pictured bright visions in the future for him. She saw him grown to manhood, honored and loved, and the prop and support of her declining years, and she thanked God that He had given her a child to be a comfort and a blessing when age had removed her dependant. Day by day she saw these visions becoming realities. Full of playful innocence he climbed on her knee when the day was over and forgot his childish troubles in a sweet sleep on his mother's breast. No thought entered her heart that there dwelt on earth one so lost to all feeling as to even rudely touch her darling boy. Fold him closer to your loving heart fond mother, the hour is near when his little head must sleep on a harder, colder pillow; kiss his little innocent lips; soon he cannot return the loving caress. Look at him as he runs out of the house at twilight, his youthful voice raised in joyful shouts, his little form all aglow with life, his eyes sparkling with glee. Does not some voice within warn that trusting mother to call her boy back. No. Little does she think as she listens to his retreating footsteps that they shall fall upon her ears no more.

What could there have been in his gleeful mischief to call down so terrible, so fatal a punishment on his innocent, childish head?

What fiend incarnate could have dwelt in that criminal soul to instigate it to a deed like this? It would seem hardly possible that one so lost to every gleam of humanity should have ever had a mother, else he could not so ruthlessly deprive one of her child. Even wild beasts have some touch of pity; but this man was fiercer and more vindictive in his causeless, unreasonable anger than they. With unerring aim, with an untrembling hand, he sped the fatal bullet, that pierced more hearts than one, that carried mourning and desolation to parents and friends, that swept from earth and life one of God's most harmless, sinless and purest of creations. Could every tear shed by this child's mother be turned into a dagger to pierce the assassin's heart; could the groans of anguish those parents uttered be converted into a rack to torment him; then might he receive punishment adequate to his crime; but human power fails to mete the reward his deed would merit. To God alone belongs the power to rightly avenge the murder of His little one. But earthly justice must not remain quiescent. Though justice be blind she is not deaf to every call for retribution. There is a bound to clemency, and this man's crime has placed him beyond the pale of mercy. Who could breathe the free air of heaven and not feel it tainted while such a being existed? If men like him are to form part of our population, what surety have we that when our children leave our sides they will return to us alive? A little act of boyish mischief may be visited with as swift and dire a vengeance as was this boy's. Homes and hearts without number may be made desolate, unless we perform the duty which is plainly laid before us, and rid society of such a fiend in human shape. 'Tis not vengeance we call for. No, simply justice. "Vengeance is mine, saith the Lord, and I will repay." And we cannot doubt, when we look at the enormity of this man's offence, but that He will repay, aye, ten-fold, the vengence He owes. Every germ of humanity, every inborn throb of sympathy, must take up arms against him in every true man's heart. What father is there in all our land, were he to decide his fate, but would instantly decide as he thought of his own cherished boy, and consign the heartless wretch to an infamous death. If that dead boy could speak now, he would plead for justice to be done him. Even now, perhaps, his little spirit is hovering near, anxiously watching, and with outstretched arms pleading to us to do our duty to ourselves and him. Shall that little spirit wing its way back to God, and ask for the justice at His bar, which was denied him at an earthly tribunal? If his death passes by unnoted, if his murderer fails to meet that punishment which his crime deserves, will not God lay the child's death at our hands? Will he not say, "Ye had the power to punish, and ye would not; therefore be the sin on your own heads." When men defy and violate the laws of nature they receive the punishment of their hardihood. This man has defied and trampled on the laws of man and the commands of God.

As the representative and defender of the interests of the Commonwealth of Pensylvania, I ask not only for justice, but for protection. If law and order are to be lightly set aside, then might we as well at once abolish all attempts to maintain the principles we profess. If lawless force is to stride onward, spreading desolation and ruin in its track, with no fear of a retributive justice overtaking it, and ending its mad career, then law is but a name, signifying nothing, an empty bubble, giving neither justice nor protection. No country spreads a more protecting wing over the rights of its children than ours. No country is more ready to reward merit, and punish crime, than ours. Let not this then be among the few instances in its annals of the claims of justice and right being unheeded. Let not this be an example to other criminals to take advantage of. Let it not be said of us that we screen the guilty from the penalty their crimes deserve; but rather that we defend the innocent, and protect the weak; that while we are not deaf to the cries of mercy, we evenly weigh in the balance the right and wrong, the true and false, and let justice turn the scales.

As the blood of Abel cried from the ground to God, so does the blood of little Eddie Miller cry out to us. The tears of a grief-stricken mother, like a Nemesis, urges us on to our duty. "A life for a life," and yet would ten thousand lives like this man's equal that one innocent boy's? If he could die a thousand deaths, it would not expiate his sin in this cutting off from earth one whose flower of life was yet in the bud. Day by day its petals were slowly expanding, but ere it blossomed into full maturity its slender stem was rudely severed, and the angels have transplanted it, and borne it where it will burst into endless bloom. He leaves behind a plea which we may not pass unheeded. Oh! that his death cry may be heard in every heart and find an echo there. May the influence of his spirit hover near, and dictate to us the will of God, which is justice. May he rest among His lambs, conscious that among those he has left on earth his death was not unnoted and not unavenged.

Mr. Moreland followed for the defense. His argument was forcible and convincing. He held that the Commonwealth have failed to make out a case of premeditation and malicious killing, and that the prisoner could not be convicted under the evidence of murder of the first degree.

Mr. Moore next addressed the jury on behalf of the prisoner, in an able and eloquent manner.

THE CLOSING ARGUMENT.

Mr. Swartzwelder made the closing argument for the Commonwealth. After calling the attention of the Court to various authorities on the questions of intent and motive, he discussed the fact to the jury. He claimed a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, and cited the declarations of the prisoner to show that his intent in firing the pistol was to kill. As to the question of motive, counsel alleged it was to be found in the prisoner's desire to rid himself of the presence of the lads, who were annoying him. This might appear an inadequate motive to the jury, as affecting themselves, in such a case, but that it was the one prompting the prisoner, the counsel contended there could be no doubt from the statements he had himself made, both before and after the firing of the pistol. Mr. Swartzwelder, therefore, contended that all the requirements of the law to show murder in the first degree had been met, and claimed such a verdict from the jury. He spoke for an hour with great energy, clearness and eloquence.

CHARGE OF THE COURT.

Judge Stowe, after reciting the facts in the case, and laying down the law, charged that the jury must be satisfied, in order to find a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, that the intent of the prisoner in firing the pistol was either to kill the deceased, Edwin Miller, or some other person. The above would justify a verdict of murder in the first degree.

If the jury entertained a doubt as to the intent to kill, but should find that defendant shot, not specifically intending to kill, but maliciously intending to injure some one, or recklessly, madly and maliciously, and knowing the danger to human life, and careless of consequences, the law implied the malice necessary to murder, and, Judge Stowe stated, the verdict should be murder in the second degree.

But if the jury do not find that the facts justify them in returning a verdict of murder, either in the first or second degree, then, if the defendant shot the pistol into the street, not maliciously, not heedlessly, incautiously or negligently, not intending to injure any one, the verdict should be only guilty of voluntary manslaughter.

The jury retired at twenty minutes to nine o'clock, when the Court took a recess for half an hour.

The Court re-assembled at ten o'clock, but the jury not having agreed upon a verdict, adjourned until ten o'clock this morning.

Further of Point Street.

Our readers will remember Point street and the particulars of the last row in that locality. This last affray seems not quite finished yet. Yesterday John McDermott appeared before Alderman McMasters and made information against John Logan for perjury. The alleged offense consists in swearing that McDermott hit him (Logan,) on the head with a plumb ball, during the row aforementioned, inflicting a painful wound. McDermott states he had no weapon of the kind about him at the time, and further says Logan was detected the following day in smearing a plumb ball with red paint, to make it appear as though it had been used in a bloody affray. The accused was arrested, but waived a hearing and gave bail for his appearance at court in the sum of $1,000.

The Continental.

We have repeatedly called the attention of our readers to the Continental Dining Rooms, Fifth avenue, next door to the Postoffice, over which Mr. Holtzheimer presides, and desire to do so again. It is not from any desire, however, to especially benefit Mr. Holtzheimer that we do so, but rather with a view to benefiting the public, in whose welfare we are at all times interested. If there is an institution in this city in which the public are interested, it is our duty to set forth its advantages and the benefits to be derived from it, and it is in this spirit that we refer to the Continental. There are numerous persons in the city, and hundreds of strangers who come in daily, who are interested in the matter of dining saloons, and desire to know where they can get a good "square meal" on short notice. We refer them to the Continental.

Miss Judith Russel, of New Bedford, writes: I have been afflicted with severe prostrating cramps in my limbs, cold feet and hands, and a general disordered system. While visiting some friends in New York, who were using PLANTATION BITTERS, they prevailed upon me to try them. I commenced with a small wine-glass full after each meal. Feeling better by degrees, in a few days I was astonished to find the coldness and cramps had entirely left me, and I could sleep the night through, which I had not done for years. I feel like another being. My appetite and strength have also greatly improved by the use of the PLANTATION BITTERS.

United States Marshal Rowley, by virtue of a writ of venditioni exponas, issued out of the United States District Court of Western Pennsylvania, will expose to public sale on the premises on Saturday morning next, at ten o'clock, the large and well appointed vinegar manufactory lately occupied and owned by Arthur Ballou, situate at Nos. 168 and 170 Second avenue. The inventory of stock and fixtures is too lengthy for publication, as it comprises an endless quantity of tubs, cisterns, pipes, castings, furniture, materials and machinery, all of which we dare say will be sacrificed at low figures, so that great bargains may be anticipated by those who attend. The sale is peremptory and must take place at the time above designated,
